Wade Bourne

Wade Bourne's name is one of the most recognized in the outdoors. Bourne is a full-time outdoor broadcaster/writer whose works appear regularly before national listening, viewing and reading audiences.

Bourne is founder and host of the award-winning Pros' Pointers Radio, a syndicated hunting/fishing radio show that airs year-round throughout the U.S. on 300+ stations.

Bourne is the on-air host for Ducks Unlimited TV on the Versus Channel. For seven years, Bourne hosted the weekly fishing/hunting adventure series Advantage Outdoors TV on The National Network (TNN).

For 16 consecutive years, Bourne hosted In-Fisherman Radio (north, south and west editions), the largest syndicated outdoor radio show in North America.

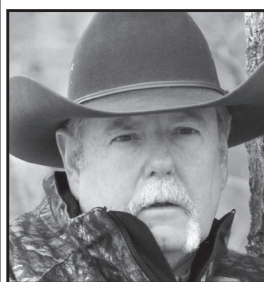

Bourne is a veteran contributor to the nation's leading outdoor magazines. He is Editor-at-Large for Ducks Unlimited magazine and Senior Writer for Bassmaster Magazine. He also writes frequently for other national outdoor publications. He has had more than 2,500 articles published in outdoor magazines in the past 30 years. He is the author of six books: "Ducks Unlimited Guide to Decoys and Proven Methods for Using Them," "Ducks Unlimited Guide to Hunting Dabblers," "Ultimate Turkey Hunting," "Fishing Fundamentals," "Fishing Made Easy," and "The Pocket Fishing Guide."

Bourne is a 2005 inductee into the National Fresh Water Fishing Hall of Fame and a 2003 inductee into the Legends of the Outdoors Hall of Fame.

Bourne is currently the featured personality in a national safe boating radio/TV/print media campaign produced by the U. S. Coast Guard.

Bourne graduated from the University of Tennessee (Knoxville) with a B.A. degree in English. He completed coursework at Murray State University (Kentucky) for an M.A. degree in journalism. He was an Air Force pilot before beginning his career in outdoor communications.

Bourne currently resides with his wife Becky and two children on his family's farm in Clarksville, TN.

Jim Strelec

Special Promotions Coordinator

While Jim Strelec finds great joy in a successful hunt, he probably finds it more satisfying to teach others how to hunt. More specifically, Strelec takes pride in being one of the top game call seminar speakers in the country.

If Knight & Hale makes it, Strelec has mastered it. He tours the country annually, sharing his knowledge at more than 100 speaking engagements. As Knight & Hale's national promotions coordinator for the past 30 years, Strelec has had a hand in product development, sales, promotions and just about everything else.

While the Cadiz, Kentucky resident spends most of his hunting time chasing deer and turkey, he relishes the time he gets to hunt for elk. In his seminars, Strelec emphasizes that humans must learn how to communicate with animals by calling with feeling and emotion. It's that same feeling and emotion that drives Strelec to educate others.

MULTRIE

Brian Hancock

As a child, he lived down a long gravel road on a farm in rural Muhlenberg County, but Brian never took up hunting, like many kids his age.

Now, Hancock can be found every Sunday morning hunting wild bears in Canada or waiting patiently in a deer stand for the ever-elusive monster buck with a group of dedicated hunting buddies on his local hunting show, Three Tree Outdoors. Currently working on their 2009 season, the show has been running every Sunday for 3 years on Fox Channel 7 at 7 am. Hancock performs many roles on the show, including hosting duties and behind the scenes business management, but the most important aspect of Three Tree Outdoors is the outreach ministry the show provides.
